

I listen to K-LOVE Christian broadcasting and depend on it as a positive influence in a world of violence. How can you even question the value of a service that is paid for directly by the community it serves? Keeping me positive keeps me involved in the success of my community which increases public safety and morale.